About Us

Pivot Point specializes in intensive therapeutic interventions for children, teens and adults with Special Needs. We implement individualized behaviour intervention plans to enhance their success at home, school and in the community.

Nature and Scope of Work

Behaviour Consultants leads all behavioural programming on a case-by-case basis, providing support and direction to front-line staff who execute these behavioural programs. Behaviour Consultants:

- Provide initial and ongoing assessments of client's behaviour, needs, and functional abilities
- Develop and document therapeutic intervention plans for children directly related to assessment results and based on industry best practice
- Provide training to families and caregivers in implementing these interventions

Key responsibilities:

- Identify and assess client/child's needs through family interviews & review of documents
- Develop an Individualized Service Plan summarizing client's context, your "case conceptualization", goals, and specific recommendations to reach those goals
- Assist the family with determining the behavioural priorities
- Create a behavioural definition of the priority behaviour(s)
- Directly observe and gather data on those behaviour(s)
- Check for reliability and social validity of data gathered
- Develop and write behavioral intervention programs using behavioural principles and procedures.
- Train team members on data gathering and implementation of the intervention programs using hands-on, role-play, etc.
- Monitor the ongoing program implementation and recommend program adaptations accordingly
- Maintain regular contact with the family and team members
- Abide by the agencies policies and procedures and follow the code of ethics of Community Living BC
- Keep abreast of current literature and research in the field
- Attend staff meetings and other training opportunities

Behaviour Consultants must be able to function independently and under time pressures, while managing multiple projects and deadlines. Occasionally, Consultants are expected to cope with the pressures of dealing with clients in crisis.

Behaviour Consultants are accountable to the Directors.
